

There is no doubt that these two REALLY are into each other. Looks and intimacy can't be manufactured...Enjoy...

The first lady is celebrating International Women's Day with an event at the White House today. The introduction went as follows:

"So, I get to speak first while he stands and watches -- I love this!" Mrs. Obama said of her husband, to the chuckles of the mostly female audience in the East Room at the White House.

"Look at me adoringly!," she told the president.

To which he responded: "I can do that ..."

To which she said: "... with sincerity!"

Later, Mrs. Obama, cracked, "it is my pleasure to introduce one of the few men in the Whitehouse"